About this sourceIndiana state printer John Douglass relocated to Indianapolis, then a town with fewer than 1,000 residents, when the state capital moved there from Corydon in 1825. Douglass purchased a share of the Western Censor and with his partner, Douglass Maguire, changed the title. The Indiana Journal debuted on January 11, 1825. The anti-Jacksonian (later Whig) newspaper advocated government-sponsored internal improvements and protective tariffs to aid Indiana's agricultural economy.Beginning in 1839, the Journal appeared more often than once a week,the frequency of publication based upon the schedule of the Indiana General Assembly. Semiweekly, triweekly, and daily editions appeared at different times from 1839 to 1851, as the Journal accommodated more state legislative news. In 1840, Douglass and his new partner, Samuel V. B. Noel, also published the Spirit of '76 to support William Henry Harrison's presidential candidacy. Noel became sole owner of the Indianapolis Journal in 1843. He renamed the paper the Indiana State Journal and leased its presses to the noted abolitionist and social reformer Henry Ward Beecher, who published the Indiana Farmer.John D. Defrees owned and operated the Journal from 1845 to 1854. As a Whig, Defrees criticized the Democratic administration's conduct of the Mexican- American War and frequently exchanged editorial barbs with the Democratic Indiana State Sentinel. Among the important changes Defrees made to Indiana journalism was installing Indianapolis's first steam driven printing press. He also launched the city's first permanent daily newspaper, the Daily Indiana State Journal, which debuted in April 1851. The daily edition was renamed the Indianapolis Morning Journal in 1853, the Indianapolis Daily Journal in 1854, and simply the Indianapolis Journal in 1867.Berry R. Sulgrove joined the Journal in 1854 as editor. He became majority owner by 1856 and transitioned the Journal into the Republican camp. During the Civil War, Sulgrove penned strong Unionist editorials supporting the policies of President Abraham Lincoln and Governor Oliver P. Morton. The Journal's daily circulation reached 6,000 during the war, when the population of the city was approximately 19,000.Indiana's bustling literary scene in the late 1800s was due in part to managing editor Elijah W. Halford's advocacy and support of Hoosier authors. James Whitcomb Riley, the 'Hoosier Poet,' greatly benefitted from Halford's patronage and published hundreds of poems and humor pieces in the Journal from 1877 to 1901. Riley also worked briefly as a reporter for the Journal.In 1880, Indiana Republican Party Chairman John C. New purchased the Indianapolis Journal. New avidly promoted Benjamin Harrison for President of the United State in the election of 1888. He distributed thousands of pro- Harrison Journal issues among delegates at the Republican National Convention to help secure the candidate's nomination.With a daily circulation of 8,263 in 1890, the readership of the Journal trailed that its chief competitors. Resisting the influences of yellow journalism, the Journal refused "to put itself on a level with the cheap papers flooding the country" and appealed "only to that class of reading public which wants the news presented in a decent and dignified manner." The Journal boosted its daily circulation to 22,320 in 1901, but in a city of 170,000 the Indianapolis News remained the leading newspaper with a daily circulation of 50,000. In June 1904, George McCulloch, publisher of the recently established Indianapolis Morning Star, purchased the Indianapolis Journal. McCulloch issued the paper as the Indianapolis Morning Star and Journal until October 26, 1904, when the Journal name disappeared from the title.

Norwich Bulletin; Publication: Norwich, New London, Connecticut, USA; Date: Nov 26 1909; Text: "...Sullivan and daughter of Stamford visited the former's mother, Mrs. Bridget Sullivan, of Oak street, Thanksgiving day. John Teevens, who has been doing photo work at the fairs of New York and the middle ..." About this source In 1910, the Norwich Bulletin advertised that it had the largest circulation of any paper in eastern Connecticut and that its readers could be found in "forty-nine towns, one hundred and sixty-five postal districts, and forty-one Rural Free Delivery District routes." A subscription base of around 7,000, the editors claimed, meant that the Bulletin had nearly 40,000 readers a day. A Republican newspaper launched in 1895 during the Progressive Era, the Bulletin overtly courted its two most natural constituencies: the small towns, villages, and rural areas of the eastern part of Connecticut and adjacent Rhode Island, and the banking, industrial, and commercial movers and shakers based in the town of Norwich itself. The editor of the Norwich Bulletin summarized well the paper's dual missions. First, the Bulletin would "spare no expense" in the effort to "cover its field" by maintaining 80 regular correspondents in the small centers of the eastern part of Connecticut. Second, the paper would "build and boom" the banking, commercial and industrial center of Norwich. Correspondents from the small towns sent in short reports on local events, social activities, and family news. The feature writer of "A Farmer Speaks to Farmers" commiserated with the beleaguered agriculturalists of the rural areas. At the same time, the Bulletin appears to have been the trusted aggregator of annual reports from the financial institutions, cotton and woolen mills, builders, and arms manufacturers whose owners formed the economic elite of Norwich and nurtured many of the important Republican politicians who operated in state and local government. Each January 1st issue also carried large photo spreads of industrial, institutional, and commercial buildings completed within the preceding calendar year. As Norwich was historically a center for New England trade, the Bulletin, in addition, published Atlantic maritime news. The Bulletin's full Associated Press service was mentioned in the publisher's statement in 1910 as a source of pride. The masthead featured a logo that traced the paper's lineage to 1791, when Ebenezer Bushnell founded the Weekly Register (1791-1795). A new owner, Thomas Hubbard, changed the name to the Chelsea Courier (1796-1798), and then over subsequent decades and changes of ownership, it appeared as the Courier (1798-1809), the Norwich Courier (1809-1845), the Norwich Weekly Courier (1845-1859), the Norwich Weekly Courier (1860-?), the Norwich Courier (?-1927), and other titles. In 1858, the Courier was purchased by a printing firm called Manning, Perry, and Company and these owners attempted to publish an evening paper, the Norwich Daily Courier (1858-1859). Soon Homer Bliss and Issac Bromley joined Manning's firm. They decided that a morning paper would be more successful than an evening daily, and the Norwich Morning Bulletin (1858-1895) was born. In 1863, a group of prominent businessmen said to be led by the cotton manufacturer John F. Slater and the banker Lorenzo Blackstone formed the joint stock company known as the Bulletin Company. In 1895, the company renamed the morning paper and launched it as the Norwich Bulletin (1895-2011). Charles D. Noyes and William H. Oat purchased the Bulletin Company in 1898. Between the company's founding and 1922, many important businessmen and Republican Party leaders were associated with it. These include Noyes, himself a leader of the state party organization, and Henry H. Gallup, a banker and manufacturer who served as Connecticut State Treasurer. The Norwich Bulletin was published until 2011 and a successor newspaper, the Bulletin, continues to this day.

Norwich Bulletin&lt;/p>
Publication: Norwich, New London, Connecticut, USA&lt;/p>
Date: Nov 26 1909&lt;/p>
Text: "...Sullivan and daughter of Stamford visited the former's mother, Mrs. Bridget Sullivan, of Oak street, Thanksgiving day. John Teevens, who has been doing photo work at the fairs of New York and the middle ..."* &lt;/p>
*About this source*In 1910, the Norwich Bulletin advertised that it had the largest circulation of any paper in eastern Connecticut and that its readers could be found in “forty-nine towns, one hundred and sixty-five postal districts, and forty-one Rural Free Delivery District routes.” A subscription base of around 7,000, the editors claimed, meant that the Bulletin had nearly 40,000 readers a day. A Republican newspaper launched in 1895 during the Progressive Era, the Bulletin overtly courted its two most natural constituencies: the small towns, villages, and rural areas of the eastern part of Connecticut and adjacent Rhode Island, and the banking, industrial, and commercial movers and shakers based in the town of Norwich itself. The editor of the Norwich Bulletin summarized well the paper’s dual missions. First, the Bulletin would “spare no expense” in the effort to “cover its field” by maintaining 80 regular correspondents in the small centers of the eastern part of Connecticut. Second, the paper would “build and boom” the banking, commercial and industrial center of Norwich. Correspondents from the small towns sent in short reports on local events, social activities, and family news. The feature writer of “A Farmer Speaks to Farmers” commiserated with the beleaguered agriculturalists of the rural areas. At the same time, the Bulletin appears to have been the trusted aggregator of annual reports from the financial institutions, cotton and woolen mills, builders, and arms manufacturers whose owners formed the economic elite of Norwich and nurtured many of the important Republican politicians who operated in state and local government. Each January 1st issue also carried large photo spreads of industrial, institutional, and commercial buildings completed within the preceding calendar year. As Norwich was historically a center for New England trade, the Bulletin, in addition, published Atlantic maritime news. The Bulletin’s full Associated Press service was mentioned in the publisher’s statement in 1910 as a source of pride. The masthead featured a logo that traced the paper’s lineage to 1791, when Ebenezer Bushnell founded the Weekly Register (1791-1795). A new owner, Thomas Hubbard, changed the name to the Chelsea Courier (1796-1798), and then over subsequent decades and changes of ownership, it appeared as the Courier (1798-1809), the Norwich Courier (1809-1845), the Norwich Weekly Courier (1845-1859), the Norwich Weekly Courier (1860-?), the Norwich Courier (?-1927), and other titles. In 1858, the Courier was purchased by a printing firm called Manning, Perry, and Company and these owners attempted to publish an evening paper, the Norwich Daily Courier (1858-1859). Soon Homer Bliss and Issac Bromley joined Manning’s firm. They decided that a morning paper would be more successful than an evening daily, and the Norwich Morning Bulletin (1858-1895) was born. In 1863, a group of prominent businessmen said to be led by the cotton manufacturer John F. Slater and the banker Lorenzo Blackstone formed the joint stock company known as the Bulletin Company. In 1895, the company renamed the morning paper and launched it as the Norwich Bulletin (1895-2011). Charles D. Noyes and William H. Oat purchased the Bulletin Company in 1898. Between the company’s founding and 1922, many important businessmen and Republican Party leaders were associated with it. These include Noyes, himself a leader of the state party organization, and Henry H. Gallup, a banker and manufacturer who served as Connecticut State Treasurer. The Norwich Bulletin was published until 2011 and a successor newspaper, the Bulletin, continues to this day&lt;/p>

 Additional information: LifeSketch: WILL OF GEORGE GUSHUE - 1826 "GEORGE GUSHUE - COPY OF HIS WILL: In the name of God, Amen.*

The Twenty third day of May, One thousand eight hundred and twenty six. I, George Gushue, of Brigus in Conception Bay, Newfoundland, Planter, being very sick and weak of body but of perfect mind and memory, thanks be given unto God, therefore calling unto mind the mortality of my body knowing that it is appointed unto all men once to die, do make and ordain this my Last Will and Testament, that is to say principally and first of all, I give and recommend my Soul into the hands of Almighty God that gave it, and my body I recommend to the Earth to be buried in decent Christian burial, at the discretion of my Executors, nothing doubting but at the general resurrection, I shall receive the same again by the Almighty power of God, and as touching such worldly estate wherewith it hath pleased God to bless me in this life, give, devise and dispose of the same in the following manner and form.

First, I order that Elizabeth, my dearly beloved wife, be maintained out of the effects of my estate agreeable to the direction of my hereinafter named Executors during her natural life.

I Will also to my dearly beloved son, George, that he be supported out of the effects of my property, and that he receive a good education.

And that my dearly beloved daughter, Ann, be supported out of the effects of my property, and likewise receive an education (inferior to that of my son) and when at the Age of Twenty one years, she shall be paid by my Executors Fifty pounds Sterling, lawful money of Great Britain.

To my son, George, I bequeath the residue of my effects (say House, Lands, Credits and all monies whatsoever) after the decease of my beloved wife, Elizabeth. But in the event of my wife marrying another husband, I then give her Fifty pounds Sterling to be paid her by my Executors at her marriage, with liberty for she and her husband to live in my Dwelling House -And to possess the Room and Plantation, but as soon as my son, George, becomes of age, he is to be put in full possession of my House, Plantation, Stock and all appurtenances appertaining thereunto, together with all Credits, monies, etc. and its also my wish that both the children remain with their Mother, until they are of age, unless a suitable education for them cannot be obtained in Brigus, and my Executors see fit to remove them. If my daughter, Ann, should not live to be of age, the Fifty pounds bequeathed her is to be given my son, George. But if my son George should not live to be of age and my daughter, Ann, should survive him, then my said Daughter is to possess the whole of my property and effects as before stated or willed to my Son. If neither should live to be of Age, then in such case, I bequeath one half of my property and effects to my Brother John's son, James, and the other half to John's son, John, but my wife to possess my House and Plantation during her natural life, either as a Widow or if married to a second husband, but should she remain single, she is to be supported out of the property as before stated, the residue after her death to be divided between my Brother's sons, James and John.

My Schooner, Craft, and all materials for the Fishing to be sold as soon after my decease as convenient, and the net proceeds with all other monies I possess, my Executors are to place at Interest in the hands of those they may deem best for those concerned. And I do hereby make, nominate, constitute and appoint John Gushue and John Norman joint Executors of this, my last Will and Testament, hereby revoking and making void all other Will or Wills by me at any time or times yet afore made.

In Witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal the day and year before written. Signed and sealed by George Gushue.

Signed, sealed, published, pronounced and declared by the said George Gushue as his last Will & Testament in the presence of us, John Norman, John Gushue and C. Cozens.

Property sworn to under two thousand three hundred pounds.

I hereby certify that the foregoing pages Two hundred and twenty three, twenty four, twenty five and twenty six contain a true and correct copy of the Will of George Gushue, proved in the Supreme Court on the Thirty first day of October and Probate granted the Fourth day of November, one thousand eight hundred and twenty six, and the same is hereby actually Registered by me this day.

Witness my hand at the Registrar of Deeds Office, Harbour Grace, Newfoundland this Thirtieth day of November, one thousand eight hundred and twenty six 1826. Signed by John Stark. Original delivered to John Gushue and John Norman the 14 November 1826."

Additional information: LifeSketch: WILL OF GEORGE GUSHUE - 1826 "GEORGE GUSHUE - COPY OF HIS WILL: In the name of God, Amen.*

The Twenty third day of May, One thousand eight hundred and twenty six. I, George Gushue, of Brigus in Conception Bay, Newfoundland, Planter, being very sick and weak of body but of perfect mind and memory, thanks be given unto God, therefore calling unto mind the mortality of my body knowing that it is appointed unto all men once to die, do make and ordain this my Last Will and Testament, that is to say principally and first of all, I give and recommend my Soul into the hands of Almighty God that gave it, and my body I recommend to the Earth to be buried in decent Christian burial, at the discretion of my Executors, nothing doubting but at the general resurrection, I shall receive the same again by the Almighty power of God, and as touching such worldly estate wherewith it hath pleased God to bless me in this life, give, devise and dispose of the same in the following manner and form.

First, I order that Elizabeth, my dearly beloved wife, be maintained out of the effects of my estate agreeable to the direction of my hereinafter named Executors during her natural life.

I Will also to my dearly beloved son, George, that he be supported out of the effects of my property, and that he receive a good education.

And that my dearly beloved daughter, Ann, be supported out of the effects of my property, and likewise receive an education (inferior to that of my son) and when at the Age of Twenty one years, she shall be paid by my Executors Fifty pounds Sterling, lawful money of Great Britain.

To my son, George, I bequeath the residue of my effects (say House, Lands, Credits and all monies whatsoever) after the decease of my beloved wife, Elizabeth. But in the event of my wife marrying another husband, I then give her Fifty pounds Sterling to be paid her by my Executors at her marriage, with liberty for she and her husband to live in my Dwelling House -And to possess the Room and Plantation, but as soon as my son, George, becomes of age, he is to be put in full possession of my House, Plantation, Stock and all appurtenances appertaining thereunto, together with all Credits, monies, etc. and its also my wish that both the children remain with their Mother, until they are of age, unless a suitable education for them cannot be obtained in Brigus, and my Executors see fit to remove them. If my daughter, Ann, should not live to be of age, the Fifty pounds bequeathed her is to be given my son, George. But if my son George should not live to be of age and my daughter, Ann, should survive him, then my said Daughter is to possess the whole of my property and effects as before stated or willed to my Son. If neither should live to be of Age, then in such case, I bequeath one half of my property and effects to my Brother John's son, James, and the other half to John's son, John, but my wife to possess my House and Plantation during her natural life, either as a Widow or if married to a second husband, but should she remain single, she is to be supported out of the property as before stated, the residue after her death to be divided between my Brother's sons, James and John.

My Schooner, Craft, and all materials for the Fishing to be sold as soon after my decease as convenient, and the net proceeds with all other monies I possess, my Executors are to place at Interest in the hands of those they may deem best for those concerned. And I do hereby make, nominate, constitute and appoint John Gushue and John Norman joint Executors of this, my last Will and Testament, hereby revoking and making void all other Will or Wills by me at any time or times yet afore made.

In Witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal the day and year before written. Signed and sealed by George Gushue.

Signed, sealed, published, pronounced and declared by the said George Gushue as his last Will & Testament in the presence of us, John Norman, John Gushue and C. Cozens.

Property sworn to under two thousand three hundred pounds.

I hereby certify that the foregoing pages Two hundred and twenty three, twenty four, twenty five and twenty six contain a true and correct copy of the Will of George Gushue, proved in the Supreme Court on the Thirty first day of October and Probate granted the Fourth day of November, one thousand eight hundred and twenty six, and the same is hereby actually Registered by me this day.

Witness my hand at the Registrar of Deeds Office, Harbour Grace, Newfoundland this Thirtieth day of November, one thousand eight hundred and twenty six 1826. Signed by John Stark. Original delivered to John Gushue and John Norman the 14 November 1826."

Additional information: LifeSketch: WILL OF GEORGE GUSHUE - 1826 "GEORGE GUSHUE - COPY OF HIS WILL: In the name of God, Amen.

The Twenty third day of May, One thousand eight hundred and twenty six. I, George Gushue, of Brigus in Conception Bay, Newfoundland, Planter, being very sick and weak of body but of perfect mind and memory, thanks be given unto God, therefore calling unto mind the mortality of my body knowing that it is appointed unto all men once to die, do make and ordain this my Last Will and Testament, that is to say principally and first of all, I give and recommend my Soul into the hands of Almighty God that gave it, and my body I recommend to the Earth to be buried in decent Christian burial, at the discretion of my Executors, nothing doubting but at the general resurrection, I shall receive the same again by the Almighty power of God, and as touching such worldly estate wherewith it hath pleased God to bless me in this life, give, devise and dispose of the same in the following manner and form.

First, I order that Elizabeth, my dearly beloved wife, be maintained out of the effects of my estate agreeable to the direction of my hereinafter named Executors during her natural life.

I Will also to my dearly beloved son, George, that he be supported out of the effects of my property, and that he receive a good education.

And that my dearly beloved daughter, Ann, be supported out of the effects of my property, and likewise receive an education (inferior to that of my son) and when at the Age of Twenty one years, she shall be paid by my Executors Fifty pounds Sterling, lawful money of Great Britain.

To my son, George, I bequeath the residue of my effects (say House, Lands, Credits and all monies whatsoever) after the decease of my beloved wife, Elizabeth. But in the event of my wife marrying another husband, I then give her Fifty pounds Sterling to be paid her by my Executors at her marriage, with liberty for she and her husband to live in my Dwelling House -And to possess the Room and Plantation, but as soon as my son, George, becomes of age, he is to be put in full possession of my House, Plantation, Stock and all appurtenances appertaining thereunto, together with all Credits, monies, etc. and its also my wish that both the children remain with their Mother, until they are of age, unless a suitable education for them cannot be obtained in Brigus, and my Executors see fit to remove them. If my daughter, Ann, should not live to be of age, the Fifty pounds bequeathed her is to be given my son, George. But if my son George should not live to be of age and my daughter, Ann, should survive him, then my said Daughter is to possess the whole of my property and effects as before stated or willed to my Son. If neither should live to be of Age, then in such case, I bequeath one half of my property and effects to my Brother John's son, James, and the other half to John's son, John, but my wife to possess my House and Plantation during her natural life, either as a Widow or if married to a second husband, but should she remain single, she is to be supported out of the property as before stated, the residue after her death to be divided between my Brother's sons, James and John.

My Schooner, Craft, and all materials for the Fishing to be sold as soon after my decease as convenient, and the net proceeds with all other monies I possess, my Executors are to place at Interest in the hands of those they may deem best for those concerned. And I do hereby make, nominate, constitute and appoint John Gushue and John Norman joint Executors of this, my last Will and Testament, hereby revoking and making void all other Will or Wills by me at any time or times yet afore made.

In Witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal the day and year before written. Signed and sealed by George Gushue.

Signed, sealed, published, pronounced and declared by the said George Gushue as his last Will & Testament in the presence of us, John Norman, John Gushue and C. Cozens.

Property sworn to under two thousand three hundred pounds.

I hereby certify that the foregoing pages Two hundred and twenty three, twenty four, twenty five and twenty six contain a true and correct copy of the Will of George Gushue, proved in the Supreme Court on the Thirty first day of October and Probate granted the Fourth day of November, one thousand eight hundred and twenty six, and the same is hereby actually Registered by me this day.

"GEORGE GUSHUE - COPY OF HIS WILL: In the name of God, Amen.

The Twenty third day of May, One thousand eight hundred and twenty six. I, George Gushue, of Brigus in Conception Bay, Newfoundland, Planter, being very sick and weak of body but of perfect mind and memory, thanks be given unto God, therefore calling unto mind the mortality of my body knowing that it is appointed unto all men once to die, do make and ordain this my Last Will and Testament, that is to say principally and first of all, I give and recommend my Soul into the hands of Almighty God that gave it, and my body I recommend to the Earth to be buried in decent Christian burial, at the discretion of my Executors, nothing doubting but at the general resurrection, I shall receive the same again by the Almighty power of God, and as touching such worldly estate wherewith it hath pleased God to bless me in this life, give, devise and dispose of the same in the following manner and form.

First, I order that Elizabeth, my dearly beloved wife, be maintained out of the effects of my estate agreeable to the direction of my hereinafter named Executors during her natural life.

I Will also to my dearly beloved son, George, that he be supported out of the effects of my property, and that he receive a good education.

And that my dearly beloved daughter, Ann, be supported out of the effects of my property, and likewise receive an education (inferior to that of my son) and when at the Age of Twenty one years, she shall be paid by my Executors Fifty pounds Sterling, lawful money of Great Britain.

To my son, George, I bequeath the residue of my effects (say House, Lands, Credits and all monies whatsoever) after the decease of my beloved wife, Elizabeth. But in the event of my wife marrying another husband, I then give her Fifty pounds Sterling to be paid her by my Executors at her marriage, with liberty for she and her husband to live in my Dwelling House -And to possess the Room and Plantation, but as soon as my son, George, becomes of age, he is to be put in full possession of my House, Plantation, Stock and all appurtenances appertaining thereunto, together with all Credits, monies, etc. and its also my wish that both the children remain with their Mother, until they are of age, unless a suitable education for them cannot be obtained in Brigus, and my Executors see fit to remove them. If my daughter, Ann, should not live to be of age, the Fifty pounds bequeathed her is to be given my son, George. But if my son George should not live to be of age and my daughter, Ann, should survive him, then my said Daughter is to possess the whole of my property and effects as before stated or willed to my Son. If neither should live to be of Age, then in such case, I bequeath one half of my property and effects to my Brother John's son, James, and the other half to John's son, John, but my wife to possess my House and Plantation during her natural life, either as a Widow or if married to a second husband, but should she remain single, she is to be supported out of the property as before stated, the residue after her death to be divided between my Brother's sons, James and John.

My Schooner, Craft, and all materials for the Fishing to be sold as soon after my decease as convenient, and the net proceeds with all other monies I possess, my Executors are to place at Interest in the hands of those they may deem best for those concerned. And I do hereby make, nominate, constitute and appoint John Gushue and John Norman joint Executors of this, my last Will and Testament, hereby revoking and making void all other Will or Wills by me at any time or times yet afore made.

In Witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal the day and year before written. Signed and sealed by George Gushue.

Signed, sealed, published, pronounced and declared by the said George Gushue as his last Will & Testament in the presence of us, John Norman, John Gushue and C. Cozens.

Property sworn to under two thousand three hundred pounds.

I hereby certify that the foregoing pages Two hundred and twenty three, twenty four, twenty five and twenty six contain a true and correct copy of the Will of George Gushue, proved in the Supreme Court on the Thirty first day of October and Probate granted the Fourth day of November, one thousand eight hundred and twenty six, and the same is hereby actually Registered by me this day.

Witness my hand at the Registrar of Deeds Office, Harbour Grace, Newfoundland this Thirtieth day of November, one thousand eight hundred and twenty six 1826. Signed by John Stark. Original delivered to John Gushue and John Norman the 14 November 1826.

"GEORGE GUSHUE - COPY OF HIS WILL: In the name of God, Amen.

The Twenty third day of May, One thousand eight hundred and twenty six. I, George Gushue, of Brigus in Conception Bay, Newfoundland, Planter, being very sick and weak of body but of perfect mind and memory, thanks be given unto God, therefore calling unto mind the mortality of my body knowing that it is appointed unto all men once to die, do make and ordain this my Last Will and Testament, that is to say principally and first of all, I give and recommend my Soul into the hands of Almighty God that gave it, and my body I recommend to the Earth to be buried in decent Christian burial, at the discretion of my Executors, nothing doubting but at the general resurrection, I shall receive the same again by the Almighty power of God, and as touching such worldly estate wherewith it hath pleased God to bless me in this life, give, devise and dispose of the same in the following manner and form.

First, I order that Elizabeth, my dearly beloved wife, be maintained out of the effects of my estate agreeable to the direction of my hereinafter named Executors during her natural life.

I Will also to my dearly beloved son, George, that he be supported out of the effects of my property, and that he receive a good education.

And that my dearly beloved daughter, Ann, be supported out of the effects of my property, and likewise receive an education (inferior to that of my son) and when at the Age of Twenty one years, she shall be paid by my Executors Fifty pounds Sterling, lawful money of Great Britain.

To my son, George, I bequeath the residue of my effects (say House, Lands, Credits and all monies whatsoever) after the decease of my beloved wife, Elizabeth. But in the event of my wife marrying another husband, I then give her Fifty pounds Sterling to be paid her by my Executors at her marriage, with liberty for she and her husband to live in my Dwelling House -And to possess the Room and Plantation, but as soon as my son, George, becomes of age, he is to be put in full possession of my House, Plantation, Stock and all appurtenances appertaining thereunto, together with all Credits, monies, etc. and its also my wish that both the children remain with their Mother, until they are of age, unless a suitable education for them cannot be obtained in Brigus, and my Executors see fit to remove them. If my daughter, Ann, should not live to be of age, the Fifty pounds bequeathed her is to be given my son, George. But if my son George should not live to be of age and my daughter, Ann, should survive him, then my said Daughter is to possess the whole of my property and effects as before stated or willed to my Son. If neither should live to be of Age, then in such case, I bequeath one half of my property and effects to my Brother John's son, James, and the other half to John's son, John, but my wife to possess my House and Plantation during her natural life, either as a Widow or if married to a second husband, but should she remain single, she is to be supported out of the property as before stated, the residue after her death to be divided between my Brother's sons, James and John.

My Schooner, Craft, and all materials for the Fishing to be sold as soon after my decease as convenient, and the net proceeds with all other monies I possess, my Executors are to place at Interest in the hands of those they may deem best for those concerned. And I do hereby make, nominate, constitute and appoint John Gushue and John Norman joint Executors of this, my last Will and Testament, hereby revoking and making void all other Will or Wills by me at any time or times yet afore made.

Additional information:
LifeSketch: "William Macomber [Jr.], born in Marshfield, Mass., was a cooper by trade. May 18-28, 1665, James Cooke of Plymouth sold to William Macomber, Jr., of Marshfield, one fourth part of a share of land at Dartmouth, given to him by his deceased father, Francis Cooke. — See Deeds at Plymouth, III. 169.

The lot just mentioned was in the present town of Westport, Mass., and embraced what is now a part of the village of Westport Point. It was bounded easterly by the main road and westerly by the west branch of Westport River. This original farm of one hundred and forty or more acres has been considerably divided, but a part of the same is still in the possession of the Macomber family, being owned by Charles F. Macomber.

The will of William Macomber, dated 10 April 1711, and probated 2 July, 1711, names wife Mary and all his children, whose births are found in the town records of Dartmouth.

Additional information:

LifeSketch: "John Macomber, born in Marshfield, Mass., is often mentioned in the history of Taunton and is called in deeds "John Macomber the cooper" to distinguish him from other John Macomers. He married Hannah, daughter of Edward Bobbit, who was born 9 March, 1660. Edward Bobbit was an original settler in Taunton and took land in the South Purchase, now Berkley. During the Indian War he was obliged to flee to the block house in Taunton and was killed by Indians while returning to his farm. He married, 7 July 1654, Sarah, daughter of Miles Tarne of Boston, Mass.

July 23, 1684, John Macomber of Taunton, cooper, acknowledged that his wife Hannah, a sister of Edward Bobbit, received her part of her father's estate by a deed of land "down Taunton River," being lot No. i, near Little River. — See Deed at Taunton, III. 574.

John Macomber was a soldier in King William's War in 1691. He made his will, "being aged," 29 June, 1716. He was living 21 Jan. 1717-8, as a deed shows. His will names children as follows:

William b. 1684, as per deposition; m. Hannah Hoskins.

Sarah, m. abt. 1715, Wm. Hoar; d. 13 Jan. 1757.

Damaris, m. 10 Dec. 1712, Josiah Cane.

Esther, Hannah, and Ruth; One of these m. William Richmond."

Not a lot is known about John Taber, son of Philip and Lydia Masters Taber. The exact date or place of birth is apparently not known. The baptismal record shows they are of Yarmouth.

He was baptized in Barnstable by Rev. John Lothrop, the eldest son of Philip Taber in his church in Barnstable, Massachusetts. The entry listed under baptisms in Rev. John's diary reads: "1640 John Sonn of Phillipp Tabor dwelling att Yarmouth a member of ye church at Watertown Nov 8"

John apparently died young, however there seems to be no record of the date or place of either his death or burial. There are numerous sites, NONE with valid sources, showing both Aft. 21 Oct 1684 and after 1702.

824. WILIAM TABER (Robert's eight-times-great-great-uncle) was born about 1642 to Deacon Philip Tabor Taber⁸⁴⁰ and Lydia Jane Masters Tabor⁸⁴¹, as shown in family tree 61. He died on 4 March 1692, aged about 49.

Additional information: LifeSketch: William Macomber (1610-1670) was apparently born in or around Bridport, Dorset, England before 25 March 1610. The Dorset parish records for the church of St. Mary's in Bridport notes that William, son of John Macumber (sic), was christened on 25 March 1610. During the era March 25 was an important holiday called Lady's Day; it was the first day of the year in the Old Style calendar system, and was exactly nine months prior to the believed date for the birth of Christ on December 25. It is reasonable to suppose that William's parents delayed William's christening a few days so it would occur on 25 March 1610.

Apparently William was the second child born to John Macomber & Edith Locke. John & Edith were married at St. Mary's church in Bridport on 8 June 1607 and 15 months later their son, Thomas Macomber, was apparently christened at St. Mary's on 12 September 1608. However, Thomas apparently passed away at age fourteen and his body was interred at St. Mary's church on 13 January 1622/3 (1622 in Old Style and 1623 in New Style Calendars). Hence, William was the oldest child in the family from age 12 onward.

King James VI, the son of "Mary, Queen of Scots", ruled Scotland from 1567 until his death in 1625, and he ruled England as James I from 1603 to 1625. The King James Version of the Bible was translated/written between 1604 and 1611 and was first printed in 1611, one year after the birth of William Macomber. William was 10 years old when the ship Mayflower set sail from Plymouth harbor 80 miles east of Bridport and established Plymouth Colony in America in 1620. And William just turned 15 years old when King James passed away on 27 March 1625 and Charles I became the king of England.

According to Dorset parish records, William Macomber married Ursella Cooper at St. Mary's church in Bridport on 16 January 1633/4 (1633 in Old Style and 1634 in New Style Calendars). (Note that some modern transcribers have apparently misread the 400-year-old Old English cursive script in the parish record of Ursella to be Prisella, and Cooper to be George). The parish record notes that three years after William & Ursella were married, a son of William Macomber named William was interred at St. Mary's church on 10 May 1636; presumably, this was the first son of William & Ursella. The parish record also notes that on 28 Feb 1635/6 a boy named Thomas, a son of William Macomber, was christened at St. Mary's, which is presumably the second child of William & Ursella.

William became a cooper (or coop) by trade; a cooper is a skilled craftsman who makes wooden barrels, which was a very important craft during the 1600's. In order to be a coop during the era, a person had to be an apprentice for several years. Most likely, William would have started his apprenticeship as an older teenager aged 16-19.

William Macomber was and is the first Macomber of record in America. In the Colonial record of Plymouth Colony dated 2 April 1638 is the following entry (Note that spelling conventions were quite different from today and the way a "u" and "v" were written was reversed).

"Willm Maycumber, of Dorchester, coop, is lycensed to dwell within this goument, at Plymouth or elsewhere, ypon the testimony of his good behauir hoe hath brought with him. Henry Madsley, of the same towne, carpenter, is also lycensed within this colony." (New Plymouth (Colony: Massachusetts) pp. 82, volume 1).

William was age 28 in April 1638. Two years earlier in 1636 a law was passed in Plymouth Colony that no one could dwell in the Colony without being granted permission (licensed) to do so. The entry notes William was of Dorchester. Dorchester is 15 miles east of Bridport and is the county seat of Dorset County where Bridport is located. Dorset County is next to Devon County where Plymouth is located. Most of the estimated 1000 residents of Plymouth Colony in 1638 (300 in 1630) were from the southern English counties of Devon and Dorset. No doubt the talk and lure of a new life in Plymouth Colony was very strong for a young couple like William & Ursella living in Dorset County. Even though Ursella (consistently spelled Ursilla in Plymouth Colony records) and her son Thomas were not noted in the 2 April 1638 entry, it is likely that they accompanied William to America in the spring of 1638; almost always families were represented in Plymouth Colony records by noting the male head of the family.

William's brother, 25-year old John Macomber, is not listed in the Plymouth Colony record in 1638, but is noted in an entry dated 6 August 1638 to have been admitted to the Island of Aqueedneck (later Rhode Island) about 40 miles southwest of Plymouth Plantation sometime between 20 March and 6 August 1638. By 1643, John had settled in the town of Taunton in Plymouth Colony where he remained until he passed away in 1690.

William, Ursilla and Thomas apparently settled first in Duxbury five miles north of Plymouth town. Two entries in the Colonial record dated 2 September 1638 are as follows.

"Willm Maycumber, a cooper, is graunted an island lying on the north side Pouder Poynt, & containing about three or foure acres of lands, guided that the committees of Duxburrow doe consent therevnto, and that he doe not stop the townes cattle from the fresh water thereypon." (New Plymouth (Colony: Massachusetts) pp. 95, volume 1).

"Liberty is granted to Willm Maycumber, coop, to fetch tymber to make hoopoes of for vessels for the colonies use at Clarks Iland & Sagaquash." (New Plymouth (Colony: Massachusetts) pp. 95, volume 1).

William was also noted as among Duxbury's first settlers by Hurd:

"Of the twenty subscribers to the civil compact, signed in the cabin of the 'Mayflower,' November, 1620, who survived the fatal first winter, these became at some future time inhabitants of Duxbury: Elder Brewster, Capt. Standish, Mr. Alden, Mr. Howland, Francis Eaton, Peter Brown, and George Soule. ... George Soule settled here [Duxbury] in 1637. ... Other early names in the town are Ames, Andrews... Maycumber..." (Hurd pp. 356-357).

While still a resident of Duxbury in 1644, William was fined 10 pounds (a very large sum) for "words spoken against the natives". William was subsequently released from paying the fine provided that he "shall be of the good behavior towards our sovereign lord the King, and all his lay people" (New Plymouth (Colony: Massachusetts) pp. 74-75, volume 2).

Apparently in 1645 William and family moved from Duxbury five miles north to the emerging community of Marshfield. Marshfield is first mentioned in Plymouth Colony records 1 March 1642 when town officers were chosen. William is noted to have received a land grant as an incentive to move there. (Marshfield Tercentenary Committee, 1940 pp. 5, 14).

While in Marshfield William purchased an additional 50 acres of land from John Rogers. Rogers was granted the land in 1640 by Plymouth Colony. However, Plymouth Colony erroneously granted part of the same meadow to Thomas Tilden and Morris Truant, which subsequently created a land dispute dealt with at length in the Plymouth Colony record. John Rogers wrote a lengthy statement for Ursilla in 1670 when she was settling William's estate (The Mayflower Descendant pp. 201-202, volume 8).

There are at least 26 entries in the Plymouth Colony record that mention William Macomber (sometimes spelled Maycumber, Maycomber, and Macumber depending on the individual scribe making the record at the time). It is clear from these entries that William was an active member of Plymouth Colony in Duxbury and later Marshfield: he was a cooper by trade; served on the jury of life and death and other juries; was sworn in several times as a member of the Grand Inquest; was granted land on at least two occasions; was elected surveyor of the highways; was selected to take inventory of selected goods in Marshfield; and was selected to be the receiver of excise taxes in Marshfield.

In addition to the two sons of William and Ursilla Macomber born in England, William and Ursilla had several sons and daughters born to them in Plymouth Colony (the details of which are currently being confirmed).

William passed away sometime prior to 27 May 1670 at or near age 60 when "A trew Inventory of the goods and Chattles of William Macomber of Marshfield, deceased" was taken (Plymouth Colony Archive Project, pp. 180, Plymouth Colony Wills 3:9).

It is reasonable to suppose that William's parents delayed William's christening a few days so it would occur on 25 March 1610.

Apparently William was the second child born to John Macomber & Edith Locke. John & Edith were married at St. Mary's church in Bridport on 8 June 1607 and 15 months later their apparent son, Thomas Macomber, was christened at St. Mary's on 12 September 1608. However, Thomas apparently passed away at age fourteen and his body was interred at St. Mary's church on 13 January 1622/3 (1622 in Old Style and 1623 in New Style Calendars). Hence, William was the oldest child in the family from age 12 onward.

King James VI, the son of "Mary, Queen of Scots", ruled Scotland from 1567 until his death in 1625, and he ruled England as James I from 1603 to 1625. The King James Version of the Bible was translated/written between 1604 and 1611 and was first printed in 1611, one year after the birth of William Macomber. William was 10 years old when the ship Mayflower set sail from Plymouth harbor 80 miles east of Bridport and established Plymouth Colony in America in 1620. And William just turned 15 years old when King James passed away on 27 March 1625 and Charles I became the king of England.

According to Dorset parish records, William Mackomber married Vssella (or Ursella) Cooper at St. Mary's church in Bridport on 16 January 1633/4 (1633 in Old Style and 1634 in New Style Calendars). (Note that some modern transcribers have apparently misread the 380-year-old Old English cursive script in the parish record of Vssella or Vrsella to be erroneously Prisella, and Cooper to be erroneously George).

The parish record for Toller Porcorum, a village about 7 miles northeast of Bridport, notes the christening of William, son of William Macumber and Ussella, on 19 October 1634, which is 39.4 weeks from 16 January, which is well within the standard deviation of 37-42 weeks for typical gestation. The parish records for Ditchat, a town about 35 miles north-northeast of Bridport, notes that Ursula Cooper, the daughter of Stephen Cooper, was christened on 12 May 1616, which would make Ursella Cooper about 17 years and 8 months old when she married 22-year-old William. See attached story entitled "Justification for Ursella Cooper (1616-1675)".

The parish record for Bridport notes William, son of William Macomber, was interred at St. Mary's church on 10 May 1636; presumably, this was the first son of William & Ursella which was christened nine months after their marriage. The parish record also notes that on 28 Feb 1635/6 a boy named Thomas, a son of William Macomber, was christened at St. Mary's, which is presumably the second child of William & Ursella.

William became a cooper (or coop) by trade; a cooper is a skilled craftsman who makes wooden barrels, which was a very important craft during the 1600's. In order to be a coop during the era, a person had to be an apprentice for several years. Most likely, William would have started his apprenticeship in nearby Dorchester as an older teenager.

William Macomber was and is the first Macomber of record in America. In the Colonial record of Plymouth Colony dated 2 April 1638 is the following entry (Note that spelling conventions were quite different from today and the way a "u" and "v" were written was reversed).

"Willm Maycumber, of Dorchester, coop, is lycensed to dwell within this goument, at Plymouth or elsewhere, vpon the testimony of his good behauir hoe hath brought with him. Henry Madsley, of the same towne, carpenter, is also lycensed within this colony." (New Plymouth (Colony: Massachusetts) pp. 82, volume 1).

William was age 28 in April 1638. Most of the estimated 1000 residents of Plymouth Colony in 1638 (300 in 1630) were from the southern English counties of Devon, Dorset, and Somerset. No doubt the talk and lure of a new life in Plymouth Colony was very strong for a young couple like William & Ursella living in Dorset County. Even though Ursella (consistently spelled Ursilla in Plymouth Colony records) and her son Thomas were not noted in the 2 April 1638 entry, it is likely that they accompanied William to America in the spring of 1638.

William's brother, 25-year old John Macomber, is not listed in the Plymouth Colony record in 1638, but is noted in an entry dated 6 August 1638 to have been admitted to the Island of Aqueedneck (later Rhode Island) about 40 miles southwest of Plymouth Plantation sometime between 20 March and 6 August 1638. By 1643, John had settled in the town of Taunton in Plymouth Colony where he operated a sawmill.

William, Ursilla and Thomas first settled in Duxbury five miles north of Plymouth town. Two entries in the Colonial record dated 2 September 1638 are as follows.

"Willm Maycumber, a cooper, is graunted an island lying on the north side Pouder Poynt, & containing about three or foure acres of lands, guided that the committees of Duxburrow doe consent therevnto, and that he doe not stop the townes cattle from the fresh water therevpon." (New Plymouth (Colony: Massachusetts) pp. 95, volume 1).

"Liberty is granted to Willm Maycumber, coop, to fetch tymber to make hoopes of for vessels for the colonies use at Clarks Iland & Sagaquash." (New Plymouth (Colony: Massachusetts) pp. 95, volume 1).

William was also noted as among Duxbury's first settlers by Hurd:

"Of the twenty subscribers to the civil compact, signed in the cabin of the #039;Mayflower,#039; November, 1620, who survived the fatal first winter, these became at some future time inhabitants of Duxbury: Elder Brewster, Capt. Standish, Mr. Alden, Mr. Howland, Francis Eaton, Peter Brown, and George Soule. ... George Soule settled here [Duxbury] in 1637. ...Other early names in the town are Ames, Andrews... Maycumber..." (Hurd pp. 356-357).

While in Duxbury two daughters were born to William and Ursilla: Edith born in 1639 or 1640, and Sarah born in 1643 as noted on her headstone.

While still a resident "of Duxbury" in 1644, William was fined 10 pounds (a very large sum) for "words spoken against the natives". William was subsequently released from paying the fine provided that he "shall be of the good behavior towards our sovereign lord the King, and all his lay people" (New Plymouth (Colony: Massachusetts) pp. 74-75, volume 2).

Sometime between 1639 and 1645 William was granted land in Green Harbor, later Marshfield Township, as an incentive to move there (Marshfield Tercentenary Committee, 1940 pp. 5, 14). Marshfield shared its southern border with the northern border of Duxbury. William built a house in Marshfield used as a garrison in later years, and William and family moved from Duxbury to the emerging community of Marshfield after 20 August 1644, likely in the spring of 1645.

While in Marshfield William purchased an additional 50 acres of land from John Rogers. Rogers was granted the land in 1640 by Plymouth Colony. However, Plymouth Colony erroneously granted part of the same land to Thomas Tilden and Morris Truant, which subsequently created a land dispute dealt with at length in the Plymouth Colony record. John Rogers wrote a lengthy statement for Ursilla in 1670 when she was settling William's estate (The Mayflower Descendant pp. 201-202, volume 8).

There are at least 30 entries in the Plymouth Colony record that mention William Macomber during the 32 years he was in Plymouth Colony (sometimes spelled Maycumber, Maycomber, and Macumber depending on the individual scribe making the record at the time). William Macomber is also noted at least 42 times in the extant pages of the Old Town Book of Marshfield, images of which are currently available online. It is clear from colonial and town entries that William was an active member of Plymouth Colony and the towns of Duxbury and Marshfield: he was a cooper by trade; was granted land in Duxbury and Marshfield on at least four occasions; served on the jury of life and death and other juries in Plymouth; was sworn in several times as a member of the Grand Inquest in Plymouth; was elected surveyor of the highways, constable, and tax collector at various times; was selected to take inventory of selected goods and to be the receiver of excise taxes in Marshfield. William was also chosen by the residents of Marshfield at town meetings to represent the town in colonial affairs at Plymouth and when dealing with a neighbor town; and in selling the old town meetinghouse, handling land disputes, recovering stolen timber or damages therefrom, building casks for powder and bullets, setting wolf traps, and other responsibilities.

While in Marshfield William and Ursilla apparently had three more sons and two more daughters born to them: William, John, Matthew, Hannah, and Ursilla.

William (1609-1670) passed away sometime prior to 27 May 1670 at or near age 60 when "A trew Inventory of the goods and Chattles of William Macomber of Marshfield, deceased" was taken (Plymouth Colony Archive Project, pp. 180, Plymouth Colony Wills 3:9). The signatures of Thomas and Matthew Macomber and the mark of Ursilla Macomber appear on an extant indenture to the attorney handling the estate (see attached image).

What a great legacy William Macomber & Ursilla Cooper have left for their posterity as can be better seen in the attached stories, photos and documents.

 Additional information: LifeSketch: William Macomber (1609-1670) was born in or near Bridport, Dorset, England circa 15 March 1609. The Dorset parish records for the church of St. Mary's in Bridport notes that William, son of John Macumber (sic), was christened on 25 March 1610. During this era March 25 was an important holiday called Lady's Day, which was the first day of the year in the Old Style calendar system, and was exactly nine months prior to the believed date for the birth of Christ on December 25. Lady's Day was one of three annual holidays in which Bridport was allowed to hold a town fair as decreed by Queen Elizabeth I. It is reasonable to suppose that William's parents delayed William's christening a few days so it would occur on 25 March 1610.

Apparently William was the second child born to John Macomber & Edith Locke.
